Description

Our earth would not exist without trees. Without trees, we could not survive. But in the modern world, deforestation is having an impact on the benefits that trees give us. In numerous ways, trees are essential to life's survival. We get food from trees that we need to survive, as well as oxygen from trees that we need to breathe. Additionally, several contaminants like Carbon Monoxide and Sulphur Di Oxide are absorbed by trees. Therefore, life cannot exist without trees. Many different birds, animals, and insects find shelter under trees. These species lose their shelter if we cut down trees, and their way of existence is completely disrupted. Save trees hence to save life.

A new project called "Birthday Tree Planting" from NSS unit 570 encourages pupils to plant a tree on their birthday. The Green Campus project served as the foundation for the introduction of this initiative. Gopika R of S7 CSE planted the first tree on campus on her birthday.
